Post-Pandemic Imperative: Living into a New Future that's Equitable, Community-Based, and Learner-Centered

PRESENTERS:

- David Cook, Kentucky Department of Education
- · Kalei Delovio, The Met High School
- · Kelly Young, Education Reimagined
- Kimo Kippen, Aloha Learning Advisors

"Historically, pandemics have forced humans to break with the past and imagine their world anew. This one is no different.

It is a portal, a gateway between one world and the next. We can choose to walk through it, dragging the carcasses of our prejudice and hatred, our avarice, our data banks and dead ideas, our dead rivers and smoky skies behind us.

Or we can walk through lightly, with little luggage, ready to imagine another world. And ready to fight for it."

The Painful Truth:

The current system is producing the results it was designed to produce.

WHAT IT WILL TAKE — TO MOVE LEARNER-CENTERED EDUCATION FROM THE MARGINS TO BEING BROADLY AVAILABLE

"You never change things by fighting the existing reality. To change something, build a new model that makes the existing model obsolete."

- BUCKMINSTER FULLER

It's time to invent a new system of education from a new paradigm.

All learners are unique, capable, curious, and wondrous.

The purpose of education is for each young person to discover who they are, their unique gifts, and how to contribute those gifts meaningfully to the world.
